

BirdWatchIreland

Little Tern Warden (May – August)

To protect, monitor and study Little Terns at Ireland's largest breeding colony at Kilcoole, Co. Wicklow. Applicants will be working as part of a small wardening team.

Applicants must be able to travel to and from the colony at Kilcoole each day.

Desirable experience includes some or all of the following:

- An academic qualification in biology or a related discipline, either completed or in progress.
- Previous experience with monitoring or conservation of wildlife.
- Ability to compile data, analyse results and write reports.
- Bird ringing or bird handling experience. Candidates will need to agree to sign up as trainee bird ringers (via BTO), if they already a ringer.
- Experience engaging with members of the public.

Closing date for applications: 1pm, Friday 29th April 2022.

Applications should be emailed to bburke@birdwatchireland.ie

Please contact bburke@birdwatchireland.ie with any queries